Hi Jimmy!

You shine in front of an audience! It's a wonder more people aren't trailing around behind you. I heard many positive comments last night and received an email and a phone call this morning about how wonderful your presentation was. One lady is currently taking some kind of introduction to film course locally, and said she got much more out of last night's program than the text-based class she is taking. Thank you again for a sophisticated, yet accessible program for those who love film. I thoroughly enjoyed the information and presentation style.
